

Queenscliff Lonsdale Yacht Club....

The Xmas Party on Friday night.

– December 18, 2015

A great night at the club house with members and friends.

School is finished for the year and a number of businesses have closed the doors for the festives...so the club needed to celebrate the activities and the friendships over a couple of glasses and a BBQ.

Members and friends started to pour into the club from 6pm onwards and casting their eyes over the best table in the mild conditions...settling down and drawing breath as Xmas is just around the corner....thank goodness said many!!

The BBQ alight and stories to be told with our more recent members from the community surrounding Nankervis Pde and King St taking on the advice of Commodore Jill to dress up in red and greentruly the colours of the season.

So along came long time member Jack with his friends in Gwen, Grace, Ray, Geraldine who provided the guide to the club but not the way home!

The fridge was bursting and the tables covered in food especially the salads along with the odd dessert that came via the Nitz family.

Outside tables with umbrellas seemed the obvious choice with the humid weather which Queenscliff community enjoyed in the high 20's whilst Melbourne and the northern neighbours fetched in the high 30's.

The frivolities continued with those arriving from locally and afar including Paul and Lesley whilst new members Tom and Alison seemed to take the dress up to a higher level.

With cameras or phones clicking around the tables it seemed that the pics could end up anywhere on the "net" ...

Jill as Commodore in charge ... continued to leap from table to table as people arrived ensuring everyone was introduced and made welcome along with the kitchen duties ably assisted by Sue, Alison, Catherine, etc.

Stories seemed to get louder as the evening progressed and the fun/relaxation took full effect!

Some chose to leave early and some took their time whilst a core of enjoyables took stock of the evening and continued way past sundown.

Great night of enjoyment and getting together between the social members, keelers and OTB dinghy people.

All in all it was a

And of course there is always a birthday person in Katherine...looking resplendent in her tinsel...with celebratory glass!!

Those who missed getting there did miss out but we are sure they will all be there on future occasionsBring on Xmas and the New Year...

Best wishes to all from the Commodore and Committeestay safe and good sailing!
