

QLYC....

The Tall Ships Festival!

- Sunday September 15, 2013

An enjoyable morning sailing with the Tall Ships as they sail to Hobart...and you missed out!! – “John Barry”

After a false start for the Saturday, it was agreed to sail out to meet the tall ships as they left Port Phillip for Hobart early Sunday morning. The QLYC fleet departed the Marina at 08:30, comprised of Valentine, Wave Dancer, Sundance, Tradition, and Tiercel.

The tall ships event is being held in association with Sydney's International Naval Fleet Review, a celebration of 100 years of the Royal Australian Navy.

There are some advantages to a larger yacht as is attested to the photos below....

A quick check on AIS indicated the Tall Ships were in the south channel making for the heads, so we sailed east to meet them.

The first ship encountered was Storm Bay, Tim Phillips owner.

This remarkable vessel spent many years in restoration at the Wooden Boat shop in Sorrento.

The following are some of the images of the ships.

A great time was had by all though from the picture below one person (Noah Cosma - skipper!).. had a riot.